Statement of Senator John McCain, Senate Committee on Rules
Wednesday, March 10, 2004

In its recent opinion in McConnell v. FEC, the Supreme Court wisely noted that money, like water, is going to seek a way to leak back into the system. We already see that. Now that the parties have been taken out of the soft money business, there are efforts by political operators to redirect some of that money to groups that operate as political organizations under Section 527 of the IRS Code, or so-called "Section 527" groups.

The game is the same: these groups are raising huge corporate and union contributions, and multi-million dollar donations from wealthy individuals, and want to spend that money on so-called "issue" ads that promote or attack federal candidates, and voter mobilization efforts intended to influence federal elections.

The tax laws say that a 527 group is a "political organization" that is organized and operated primarily for the purpose of influencing the election of candidates.

In other words, any 527 group is by definition in the business of political campaigns, and it has voluntarily sought the tax advantages conferred on political groups. But these groups should not then be permitted to shirk their other obligations, including those under the campaign finance laws.

Use of soft money by 527 groups whose major purpose is to effect federal elections is not legal. This is not a matter of the Reform Act of 2002; it is a fundamental rule of federal election law since 1974. That law, as construed by the Supreme Court in Buckley v. Valeo, requires any group that has a "major purpose" to influence federal elections, and spends $1,000 or more to do so, to register with the Federal Election Commission as a "political committee," and be subject to the contribution limits, source prohibitions and reporting requirements that apply to all political committees.

That 527s have been allowed for years by the FEC to operate outside of the law is not surprising. In McConnell, the Supreme Court stated, in no uncertain terms, how we ended up in the soft money crisis to begin with. The Justices placed the blame squarely at the doors of the FEC, concluding that the agency had eroded the prohibitions on union and corporate spending through years of bad rulings and rulemakings, including its formulas for allocation of party expenses between federal and non-federal accounts.

The Supreme Court stated in McConnell that the FEC had "subverted" the law, issued regulations that "permitted more than Congress . . . had ever intended", and, with its allocation regime, "invited widespread circumvention of FECA's limits on contributions."

What we need today is for the FEC to enforce the law the way it should be enforced. This is what the FEC rulemaking is about. The FEC has been wrong with respect to its treatment of 527s for years, and the agency needs to get its house in order fast, and make clear that a section 527 group - a group that has voluntarily identified itself for tax law benefits as a "political organization" - must comply with the federal election laws when its major purpose is to influence federal elections.

Section 527 groups need to play by the rules that all other political committees are bound by, the rules that Congress has enacted to protect the integrity of our political process - they need to raise and spend money that complies with federal contribution limits and source prohibitions for ads they run that promote or attack federal candidates or otherwise have the purpose to influence federal elections, and they need to spend federal funds for voter mobilization activities that are conducted on a partisan basis and are intended to influence federal elections. Just like every other political committee.

Let me also say that the FEC in this rulemaking must change its absurd allocation rules. Under these rules, a committee that wants to manipulate the law can arrange its activities to spend 100 percent soft money for voter drive efforts that obviously are for the purpose of influencing federal elections. Indeed, one of the 527 groups operating today - America Coming Together, or ACT - has made overwhelmingly clear that its principle purpose is to defeat President Bush. Yet ACT recently filed a report with the FEC in which it claims that under the Commission's existing allocation rules, it can fund its voter drive activities with 98 percent soft money. This is ridiculous, and it makes a mockery of the law. The Commission needs to put some teeth in its allocation rules, now.

But many other organizations, although politically active, do not have partisan politics as their primary purpose. Section 501(c) groups, for instance, are prohibited by the tax laws from having a primary purpose to influence elections. These groups thus operate under different rules, and appropriately so.

Section 501(c) groups can - and should - engage in nonpartisan voter mobilization activities without restriction. And under existing tax laws, Section 501(c) groups - unlike section 527 groups - cannot have a major purpose to influence federal elections, and therefore are not required to register as federal political committees, as long as they comply with their tax law requirements. Much of the public controversy surrounding the FEC's rulemaking stems from a failure to understand these simple distinctions.

It's tempting to see everything that is done in campaign finance reform through a partisan lens. And sometimes, it's true that things are done with partisan ends in mind. But we all need to remember that what may seem, in the middle of an election, to be in the short-term political interest of one party is not necessarily a good thing in the long run - even for that party.

I note that FEC Vice-Chair Ellen Weintraub opposed a rulemaking on 527 activity at this time, saying "at this stage in the election cycle, it is unprecedented for the FEC to contemplate changes to the very definitions of terms as fundamental as 'expenditure' and 'political committee' . . . sowing uncertainty during an election year." Weintraub stated, "I will not be rushed to make hasty decisions, with far-reaching implications, at the behest of those who see in our hurried action their short-term political gain."

In fact, what the FEC needs to do now is simply enforce existing federal election law as written by Congress in 1974 and interpreted by the Supreme Court in 1976. It defies the whole purpose of the FEC to say that it should not enforce this law in the middle of an election year because such enforcement might effect that election. The fact that the FEC has neglected to enforce the law correctly for the last several years because it erroneously interpreted the rules for 527s is not a reason for the Commission's continued failure to enforce it now that the Supreme Court has made it clear in McConnell that they should do so.

One of the problems the FEC faces today is that Commissioners refuse to acknowledge even the Supreme Court's authority in this area. FEC Chairman Brad Smith's response to the McConnell decision was to say: "Now and then the Supreme Court issues a decision that cries out to the public, 'We don't know what we're doing!' McConnell is such a decision." What an extraordinary statement from a public official whose statutory responsibility is to enforce the laws of the land as written by Congress, signed by the President, and upheld by the Supreme Court!

Mr. Chairman, it is statements like this that point out the need for fundamental reform of the FEC. I hope this Committee will hold hearings on the legislation that Senator Feingold and I have introduced to do this. The FEC's current difficulty in dealing with an issue as straightforward as these 527 organizations spending soft money in the 2004 federal elections, and the 3-3 ties at the Commission when it recently considered an advisory opinion on this issue, are only the most recent examples of the need for FEC reform.

While FEC Vice-Chairman Weintraub spoke about her concern that the 527 issue was being raised for "short-term political gain", I trust no one will suggest that my position in this hearing is so motivated. The Chairman certainly knows of the many occasions where I have been accused of neglecting partisan interests. My dedication to the cause of campaign finance reform goes back many years and will extend far beyond the current election cycle. The same may of course be said of my colleague, Russ Feingold, who joins me here today.

We believe the FEC needs to do what is right, which is to ensure that both the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1974 and the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act of 2002, are fully enforced. I welcome recent efforts by the Republican National Committee to encourage enforcement of the law regarding 527 federal political activities. Support for enforcement is welcome no matter the reasons for it. Just as some former opponents of campaign reform now favor enforcement actions by the FEC, some of those who in the past urged enforcement of the law have suddenly changed their tune. Let me read you a portion of a letter sent to the Department of Justice asking for a criminal investigation of a 527 group which was proposing to run issue advertising and conduct voter registration for the purpose of affecting federal elections and which had failed to register with the FEC as a federal political committee.

[It has} begun to raise $25 million so that this group can finance issue advocacy advertisements and get-out-the-vote activities. This organization plans to finance these activities from donations raised outside of the Federal Election Campaign Act's ("FECA" or the "Act") source limitations and amount restrictions, and without regard to the FECA's registration and reporting requirements. The result is an organization that is claiming tax-exempt status as a "political organization" under Section 527 of the Internal Revenue Code, but which is willfully refusing registration and reporting expenditures and contributions received.

This letter came from Democratic election law attorney Bob Bauer and his law firm Perkins Coie in 1998, objecting to a 527 created by Congressman Tom Delay. I agree with Mr. Bauer's analysis of federal election law relating to 527s and federal political committees as stated in this letter. Unfortunately, Mr. Bauer and his law firm are now representing 527s who want to engage in the sort of activity which they argued only a few years ago was "illegal" and required criminal investigation. [Letter in record]

What this letter proves is that it is foolish for anyone-including Members of Congress or Commissioners of the FEC-- to make decisions on enforcing the election laws based on perceptions of short-term, inherently changeable, partisan considerations. Instead, precisely because partisan calculations change over time, and then change again, the only appropriate basis for interpreting the law in this area is the statutes themselves, and the principle of keeping corporate and labor funds out of federal elections.

With the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act, we showed our constituents, in a bipartisan way, that we care about making sure that they have the political power in this country, rather than the Enrons and the WorldComs and unions and the wealthiest of the wealthy. We need to continue that work, not undermine it, at this critical time. And we need not wait until the election is over. The FEC should act as quickly as it can to settle this matter, and bring the confusion over these groups to a close.

I hope the Commissioners will not let short-sighted political or personal ideological concerns deter them from the right course - for themselves, for their parties, and for the public they represent.

OUR PLAN FOR VICTORY IN 2004

CLOSE ELECTIONS ARE WON ON THE GROUND

And this is going to be a close election.

Bottom line—we will win in November 2004. And we'll do it by being smarter, working harder, and turning out more votes on Election Day.

In 2000, the Presidency was decided by razor thin margins in 17 states -- 17 states that swayed elections and set the issue agenda. This is still a 50-50 nation, just as it was in 2000. Once again, these 17 states will decide the election and frame the issue debate for races at every level.

Our Plan is to win every one of those battleground states in 2004.

But it won't happen without hard work. Republicans from the state houses to the White House have advantages: a massive money machine powered by fat-cat allies and right-wing extremists desperate to keep their stranglehold on power.

We have to capitalize on our greatest strength — the fierce power of Americans who care, are committed and are prepared to take the fight to the grassroots.

We know there is nothing more powerful than America Coming Together to create change in 2004.

WE ARE THE FOOT SOLDIERS OF THE PROGRESSIVE MOVEMENT

ACT has a clear goal: we will mobilize millions of voters who will say NO to the Republican agenda at every level. ACT will uproot the cynicism of politics-as-usual.

Our plan is rooted in old fashioned, door-to-door, shoe leather on the pavement politics—but with a high tech twist.

- ACT will focus on personal contact—around kitchen table, face-to-face, neighbor-to-neighbor.
- ACT will make this campaign about the issues that really matter to voters. ACT canvassers will listen to voters' concerns about issues that affect them and their families.
- ACT will communicate with voters about those issues, highlighting the extremist positions of the Bush Republican agenda and discussing positive, progressive alternatives.
- ACT will use cutting edge technology to add this issue information to the voter file, so voters are seen as individuals, not just anonymous targets barraged by information.
- ACT will get in touch and stay in touch— -- by reaching out to voters now, repeatedly contacting them through phone calls, mail and door-to-door operations, and personally following up with them right up to Election Day.

We will find the exact voters who believe in change but don't vote, in key counties, key precincts, and key neighborhoods and we will bring the issues right to their front doors.

Person to person, neighbor to neighbor, friend to friend, we will get people thinking and talking about the issues that really matter: health care, jobs, security, and the economy.

We will help voters understand they have the power to change this nation for the better -- then we will get them to the polls in the biggest voter turnout operation in history.

On Election Day 2004, an army of new voters, mobilized voters, informed voters will march to the polls and create change.

AMERICA COMING TOGETHER WILL MAKE THIS HAPPEN.

We have a job. You do too.

Let's talk about what you can do to help.

SIGN UP NOW Join ACT, create change and do your part.

DONATE Help support the ground campaign -- help us match their huge dollars door-to-door.

TELL A FRIEND Pass the word. It is crucial we get the word out. You know people who feel like you did—four more years are looming and they don't know what they can do about it. Now you do—so share the power!

Ellen R. Malcolm
President

Dear Friend,

Are you ready to go for it, prepared to lay everything on the line to win in 2004?

I hope so. Because, if we can count on your personal support and active participation, 2004 will be a year of America Coming Together and George W. Bush going home.

To keep their grasp on the White House and win other critical key House, Senate and local races, the Bush campaign and the Republican National Committee are amassing a political fortune. By Election Day, they will have raised and spent over half a billion dollars to hold onto power.

We can't match them dollar-for-dollar. But, we can — and must — match them door-for-door.

America is divided almost evenly between those who support President Bush and those who believe he is taking America in the wrong direction. In the presidential contest and in other key federal, state and local races, the elections of 2004 will be won by whichever side does the best job identifying and mobilizing its supporters.

That's why some of the leading progressive organizers in America have come together to advance a bold, far-reaching Action Plan, an outline of which I have enclosed with this letter.

With help from committed activists like you, America Coming Together (ACT) will organize millions of face-to-face, door-to-door, neighbor-to-neighbor contacts that will shape the outcome of the 2004 elections — and shape the future of American politics.

And, when Election Day is over, we will have defeated George W. Bush and elected progressive candidates all across the nation. The extraordinary effort we're undertaking is in response to the extraordinary damage Bush and his allies do, on a daily basis, to values we believe in and to people we care about.

In communities all across America, people are hurting because Bush's mindless devotion to tax cuts for the wealthy is making a shambles of our economy. Bush has turned record budget surpluses into record deficits in no time flat.

He has worked hard to undermine a woman's right to choose. His reckless disregard for the environment has eroded decades of progress. He's set timber companies loose on our national forests — and he's set John Ashcroft loose on our civil liberties.

But, wishing won't make Bush, Cheney, Ashcroft, DeLay and their extremist agenda go away. People-to-people organizing will — and organizing is what ACT is all about.

With your help, we're going to put people back into politics — big-time.

What's it going to take to defeat George W. Bush and elect strong progressive candidates across the country? It's going to take an ambitious, history-making voter contact plan — and it's going to take people like you getting involved.

Do you believe that there is no higher priority in 2004 than defeating George W. Bush and electing strong progressives to replace those politicians who have helped Bush advance his extreme agenda?

Are you willing to help America Coming Together finance and execute the most far-reaching and intensive face-to-face campaigning by progressives that America has ever seen?

Here's what America Coming Together is all about. It's about people like you and me making a personal commitment to defeating George W. Bush and electing strong progressive candidates.

It's time to put our money where our hearts are. Please join us.

Sincerely,

Ellen R. Malcolm
President

P.S. As our Action Plan unfolds in the months ahead, we'll be counting on both your financial support and your personal participation. So, as you write your check, please take a moment to fill out the enclosed America Coming Together enrollment form.

Whether you're in one of our 17 target states or not, there is much you can do. So be sure to let us know how you'd like to be involved.

That leaves seventeen states with 180 electoral votes as the competitive battleground in this election. Those states will not only determine the outcome of the presidential election, they will be the home of dozens of key federal, state and local races as well.

Our America Coming Together Action Plan will focus all of our attention in these key states — the ones that will decide in which direction America goes after the 2004 elections.

There's no doubt that America Coming Together can make a decisive difference. Consider the facts:

- In Wisconsin (10 electoral votes), 2,598,607 people voted and Al Gore won by 5,396 votes.
- In Oregon (7 electoral votes), 2,598,601 ballots were cast, Gore won by just 6,765 votes. And, how close are things in Oregon today? In a recent poll, 41% say they will vote to re-elect Bush, 47% plan to vote for or consider someone else, and 13% are undecided.
- And, of course, in Florida, 5,963,110 votes were counted and Bush was declared the winner by a margin of only 537. And, today, a majority of Florida voters say they will vote for or consider a candidate other than Bush in 2004.

25,000 organizers

At the heart of our America Coming Together Action Plan is an effort to build an infrastructure of deeply committed organizers. Each state will be led by a highly experienced state director.

We're already putting directors in place in nine states. Eight more will be added as soon as we have the financial support to know that we can carry out an effective effort in those states. That's why your immediate help is so vitally important.

Each state director will build a detailed plan and strategy to match the specific circumstances of his or her state. But, the centerpiece of each state plan is specific vote goals — city-by-city, county-by-county, precinct-by-precinct, voter-by-voter. We know how many votes we need to defeat President Bush and elect progressive candidates and we're organizing a massive, interconnected program of voter contact to go out and find those votes.

We'll begin with an early canvass, knocking on people's doors, getting the lay of the land. Then, come summer, we'll launch a massive door-to-door effort — contacting voters, identifying our supporters, and learning what issues matter most in their lives. We'll follow up with a stream of individual communications around the issues people have told us they are most concerned about.

throughout 2004, we can build a broader community of support and an unstoppable margin of victory.

We've got to find those voters who will support our candidates and we've got to engage them face-to-face. We know that, in 2004, voters will experience an avalanche of radio and television ads. Those ads have their place and it's critical for progressive candidates to stay competitive in the tit-for-tat media wars.

But, you and I both know that these mass market, impersonal communications aren't enough to truly engage people. Continuing declines in voter participation are evidence enough of that.

Our 2004 America Coming Together strategy isn't about adding to the media clutter. It's about putting good old-fashioned community organizing back into the electoral process. Our ambitious, well-considered plan revolves around face-to-face, door-to-door, neighbor-to-neighbor campaigning.

It's not only the most edifying thing to do; it's the most effective thing to do.

Experience has shown that multiple personal contacts, beginning well before the election and running right up through Election Day, are the most powerful way to engage citizens in politics. And, that's just what our America Coming Together strategy is all about.

And a one-way ticket back to Crawford, Texas.

The effort we're undertaking won't be inexpensive. Our America Coming Together Action Plan will cost $94 million to carry out. We've already raised $32 million and, to keep our efforts on track, we must raise the next $5 million before the end of the year.

But, the rewards of victory will be well worth the time, effort, and money we invest. With your help, our America Coming Together Action Plan can help propel progressive candidates to victory in vitally important state, local and federal contests — and it can help buy George W. Bush a one-way ticket back to Crawford, Texas.

Let's get mad. Let's get organized. Let's win.

"The record is clear. If we talk to voters one-on-one, at the door, in their neighborhoods, on the phone, in the mail and on the Internet about the issues they care about — and weave our communications into an ongoing dialogue, they will come out to vote and make a change. That's why I'm proud to be a part of America Coming Together."

Grassroots and political leaders who share a vision of a progressive America and are committed to help defeat George W. Bush, elect progressives up and down the ticket, and mobilize millions of people to register and vote around the critical issues facing our country started America Coming Together (ACT).

Ellen R. Malcolm, President of ACT, is the founder and president of EMILY's List – a political action committee that supports pro-choice Democratic women candidates. Under her leadership, EMILY's List – an acronym for "Early Money is Like Yeast" because it "makes the dough rise" – has grown to be the largest political action committee in the country. Since its founding, EMILY's List has help send 11 pro-choice Democratic women to the U.S. Senate, 55 to the U.S. House of Representatives, and to elect seven governors. Malcolm will lead the effort to build ACT's membership and raise $95 million to support ACT's voter contact program.

Steve Rosenthal, Chief Executive Officer of ACT, was Political Director of the AFL-CIO from 1996-2002, where he developed a groundbreaking voter contact program that increased voter turnout of union members by 4.8 million during a time when nonunion turnout decreased by 15 million. During the first three years of the Clinton Administration, Rosenthal served as Associate Deputy Secretary of the U.S. Department of Labor where he acted as former-Secretary Robert Reich's chief advisor on union matters. Before that he was Deputy Political Director for the Democratic National Committee under Chairman Ron Brown and Political Director Paul Tully. Rosenthal will design and execute ACT's voter contact program.

Minyon Moore heads Dewey Square's state and local practice. She was formerly Chief Operations Officer of the Democratic National Committee and before that Assistant to the President of the United States and Director of White House Political Affairs.

Gina Glantz has a distinguished 30-year career in campaigns and grassroots organizing. She was National Campaign Manager for the Bill Bradley for President campaign.

Carl Pope, Treasurer, is Executive Director of the Sierra Club, an organization of 700,000 environmental activists. Pope has spent 30 years in the environmental trenches, and worked to enact such statutes as the Clean Air and Clean Water Acts, the Superfund and California Desert Protection Act.

Cecile Richards is President of America Votes, a coalition of almost 30 national organizations working together to educate and mobilize voters in the 2004 elections on a broad range of issues including the environment, civil and human rights, women's rights, choice, education and labor.

Key Political Staff

JoDee Winterhof, ACT Political Director

Ms. Winterhof created innovative strategies for targeting and mobilizing voters for a variety of federal and state campaigns. She served as Chief of Staff to Senator Tom Harkin and advised both his presidential and senatorial campaigns. In her home state of Iowa, she has managed congressional campaigns and the Iowa Democratic Coordinated Campaign in 1996.

Donald Redmond, National Field Director

Mr. Redmond is a veteran campaigner specializing in voter mobilization and turnout. He served as Political Director for Philadelphia Mayor John Street in both his 1999 and 2003 campaigns and was Field Director for Ed Rendell's successful 2002 gubernatorial campaign. After a tight 1999 win, Mr. Redmond helped Mayor Street to a decisive 16-point victory in 2003. Mr. Redmond has also provided critical organizing and tactical services to the NAACP Voter Fund and the Philadelphia Voter Mobilization Coalition.

Andy Grossman

Andrew Grossman served at the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee from 1999 through 2003. Grossman got his start in politics in 1988 working on Jesse Jackson's presidential campaign. He has worked for Democratic candidates at the local, state and national level, including David Dinkins' 1989 mayoral campaign in New York, Tom Harkin's campaign for president in 1992, and Jim McGreevey for Governor of New Jersey in 1997. In 1998, Grossman was the New York Democratic Party's coordinated campaign director, where he worked successfully to elect Chuck Schumer to the United States Senate and

Forging A Greater Political Voice For Working Families

February 25, 2003

Hollywood, Fla.

America's union movement confronts a political environment fundamentally altered since November 2002. Because of a handful of contested Senate races decided by slender margins in the mid-term elections, Republicans control both houses of Congress and the presidency for the first time in half a century. On Election Day, the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act also took effect, changing the rules governing the flow of political money and the opportunities for political speech in ways unprecedented, unpredictable and—in several respects—harmful to working people and their unions. Meanwhile, the Help America Vote Act—election reform—has given new hope that when people vote, their ballots will be counted as they intended.

Since 1996, America's union movement has directed itself as never before to informing and engaging union members and their families on issues and federal, state and local elections. We have succeeded in revitalizing labor's political program by involving millions of union households, earning new respect from our allies and our adversaries alike and achieving significant results at the ballot box. All this has occurred while anti-union, right-wing politicians and groups have amassed massive resources to aid a relentless effort to assert control over all three branches of the national government, as well as statehouses, legislatures, city halls and the courts.

Control of the federal government by the current Republican leadership poses a daunting challenge to workers and their unions. Not only has the Bush Administration weakened worksite health and safety protections, failed to address pressing health care needs and made the tax code less fair to worker, it also has undertaken initiatives and made decisions aimed at undermining collective bargaining and the capacity of unions to afford workers an effective voice at work. The administration's denial of organizing rights to tens of thousands of federal employees has sent a terrible signal to all employers. And the administration seems determined to impose onerous, expensive and intrusive new record-keeping and reporting requirements on unions, far in excess of anything ever suggested for corporations.

The union movement's political program is the only national mass-based and democratically governed movement committed to promoting public policies that benefit working people and ordinary families. Government action that undermines the freedom of workers to organize unions or unduly impairs the organizations workers have formed to promote their welfare must be resisted both at the workplace and in the public arena.

Last year, the AFL-CIO General Board guaranteed stable, continuing funding of the Member Mobilization Fund through the 2005 AFL-CIO convention. It did so both as a matter of fairness to all AFL-CIO unions and as a meaningful devotion of resources for political action through and beyond the next presidential election. The AFL-CIO Executive Council now affirms the principles of the mobilization program and sets the following priorities until the last votes are cast in 2004:

- First, we will register millions more members of union households to vote, and we will encourage and assist them in exercising that right so their share of the voting electorate reaches its highest level in a generation.
- Second, we will undertake active internal communication on key issues and aggressive public advocacy of a working families agenda in order to shape the legislative and electoral environment in 2003 and 2004.
- Third, beginning immediately, we will establish a corps of volunteer union member coordinators to lead a program of grassroots education and mobilization in every organized workplace in the nation.
- Fourth, earlier than ever before, we will train and deploy the greatest number ever of full-time field coordinators for Labor 2004.
- Fifth, we will communicate with union households in every manner, from worksite conversations to home visits, from telephone calls to mail and from membership meetings to the Internet. During every election cycle, we have established a new record in the numbers and effectiveness of these contacts, and we will do so again in 2004.
- Finally, we will continue to pursue Target 5000, the labor movement's ongoing effort to recruit and assist union members themselves to seek elective office from the town council to Congress, and to encourage other union members and union political action committees to help finance their campaigns.

If we achieve these goals, the union movement's influence will reach as far as it can to advance the interests of working people and our nation. We will secure legislation that favors working family interests and elect enough working family candidates so that— whichever party controls the White House, Congress and state and local governments— working people win when legislation is enacted, government budgets are constructed and public policy is developed.

However, we recognize that in addition to mobilizing union households and making broad appeals to the public we must directly engage millions of people who have not been able to secure union representation. We need to embrace real opportunities to involve these workers, who share common concerns, interests and needs. This is particularly important in the new legal environment, which will impel a shift of resources and political activity from the national political parties to state and local parties, non-party organizations and citizen groups. We will undertake numerous initiatives to do so.

A new organization has been formed called The Partnership for America's Families. The partnership plans to conduct an intensive campaign to mobilize massive numbers of voters outside labor's ranks against the anti-worker, anti-union policies of the Bush Administration, and to support a pro-working families agenda. It will register, inform, engage and then turn out these voters by combining modern communications and targeting mechanisms with grassroots organizing. The partnership will apply the lessons we have learned in activating union households to our natural allies, especially African Americans, Latinos and working women. The partnership is ready to begin its work now. The AFL-CIO will support this effort and encourages its affiliates to do so as well.

The labor movement intends, through both proven means and new initiatives, to restore government that reflects the aspirations of working people and respects their contributions. We commence this effort now with all our vigor, might and creativity.

Voices for Working Families Making Every Vote Count

VOICES FOR WORKING FAMILIES is a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization created to ensure that everyone in this country can participate fully in America's political life.

We work to register voters in communities of color and among working women and others to share information about critical working family issues and to provide opportunities to raise a unified voice for social and economic justice before political leaders and candidates.

At Stake: Jobs, Health and Basic Rights

America's economy is failing working families and their communities. Since President George W. Bush took office, more than 3 million jobs have disappeared.

One in five workers has been laid off in the past two years. Eleven million workers want jobs and cannot find them. For communities of color especially, today's economy is a disaster.

People of color struggle disproportionately with America's health care crisis, too, as costs soar, employers shift growing shares of health coverage costs to workers and the Bush administration fails to help the millions of working families lacking and losing insurance. Retirement security also is fading for all but the wealthiest in this country, particularly endangering the futures of African Americans, Latinos and women.

With the economic foundations beneath us cracking, basic rights—at work and in society—are eroding as well. The Bush administration, which came into power through the disenfranchisement of millions of voters, has attacked affirmative action, civil liberties, workers' freedom to improve life through unions, job safety, our right to overtime pay and immigrant rights.

It's Time for Change—It's Time for a Voice

This is America—where every man and woman is entitled to the power of the vote and every vote carries the possibility of change. But in the states likely to determine the outcome of the 2004 presidential election—states with close election results in 2000 where people of color could determine the 2004 election results—millions of people of color are not registered to vote.

Across America, 9.7 million African Americans, 7.2 million Latinos and 2.7 million Asian American voting-age citizens did not vote in the 2000 presidential election. Their voices were silent.

It's time for a change.

Communities of color are making up larger and more influential segments of the voting public—and President Bush's political team will do everything it can to woo these voters. Karl Rove, Bush's top political adviser, acknowledges that winning over Latinos is "our mission and our goal."

Voices for Working Families will be on the streets, in communities and on the airwaves to provide all the facts voters need to elect a working family-friendly presidential candidate.

Voices for Working Families takes a unique approach to registering, educating and mobilizing voters. We apply new high-tech tools, from e-mail to Palm Pilots, to the fundamentals of political organizing—going door-to-door and meeting with people one-to-one to discuss what's at stake in 2004 and how each of us can make a difference. In the 2004 election cycle, we will register, educate, mobilize and turn out people of color and working women to make their voices heard by voting.

Voices for Working Families will mount sustained efforts because it will take repeated contact over a long period of time to increase voter participation. Our strategy is to reach households in targeted communities with 10 contacts of various types—mail, in-person visits, phone calls and more—before Election Day.

FIELD PLAN

This is America—where every man and woman is entitled to the power of the vote and every vote carries the possibility of change. But in many crucial states, millions of people of color and women are not registered to vote.

Voices for Working Families is a nonprofit 527 organization pledged to aggressively organize voting activities in 16 battleground states. We will work to register people of color and women to vote, share information about critical working family issues and provide opportunities to raise a unified voice for social and economic justice. Our goals are to register, educate and mobilize.

The Plan

Voices for Working Families will mount sustained mobilization campaigns over the course of 2004. It will take repeated contact over many months to increase voter participation in the targeted states. Our strategy is to reach households in the targeted communities with at least 10 personal contacts, such as door-to-door visits, mail and phones.

Voices for Working Families will implement an integrated field program in an effort to mobilize African Americans, Latinos and working women. We will coordinate with community groups, activists and other 527s.

Voices for Working Families will use survey research and polling to create effective messages appropriate for the community in which we are working.

Voices for Working Families will use the latest technology to develop its Web presence and integrate each of the community outreach components. The Voices for Working Families Web presence will keep coalition members and donors up to date on the progress of mobilization programs.

Voices for Working Families operates on three complementary tracks:

1. Paid Canvass Operation

We will have a professional canvassing system that combines Palm Pilot technology and a proven canvassing infrastructure. The "Field Machine" system is based on an aggressive, multicontact grassroots plan through canvassing, mail and phones. The focus is to register voters and educate them on the issues important to working families and their communities. Closer to Election Day, we will use our infrastructure for a get-out-the-vote operation. By using the Palm Pilots to speed up and automate voter data delivery, we save valuable time, money and human resources. The detailed voter issue information can be used to personalize future voter contact.

2. Volunteer Operation

We will use people resources from the local community and allied partners to facilitate voter registration projects throughout the community.

3. Working Women

The Working Woman Project focuses on working within the community to create a volunteer operation to reach out to women in their homes and in their neighborhoods. Voices for Working Families' issue-based program consists of:

- Precinct Walks to Working Women, to be held on the first Saturday of every month;
- "Bring Your Daughter to Walk," to start off the next generation of precinct walkers; and
- Precinct Captains for Working Women, set for targeted precincts in targeted states.

Voices for Working Families will be on the streets, in communities and on the airwaves to register, educate and mobilize. Only with an unprecedented operation will we be able to elect a working family-friendly president.

VOICES FOR WORKING FAMILIES Will Register, Educate, and Mobilize Women, Youth, Minority Voters in 16 Election Battleground States

Washington, D.C., October 6, 2003 – Some of the nation's largest labor unions have joined forces with civil rights and women's groups, elected officials and hip hop impresario Russell Simmons to "transform America" by increasing voter awareness and participation in 16 "battleground states" where analysts say the 2004 presidential election is likely to be decided. Saying "from education to health care to jobs to retirement security, working families across America are hurting," Voices for Working Families, a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization which unveiled its backers and field plans today, will focus on women, minority and youth voters.

"We can no longer sit and idly watch the erosion of our economy, health care system and basic rights under the Bush administration," said Gerald W. McEntee, chair of Voices for Working Families and president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME). "This is America - where every man and woman is entitled to the power of the vote and every vote carries the possibility of change. By registering, educating and mobilizing voters, we're going to empower people to raise their voices and create change."

Alexis McGill, Acting Political Director of the Hip-Hop Summit Action Network founded by Russell Simmons, CEO and President of Rush Communications, Def Jam, Phat Farm, and Def Com 3 Soda, announced that "the Hip Hop Summit Action Network joins with Voices for Working Families in an effort to expand voter participation with a focus on younger voters in the hip hop generation."

According to McEntee, the field plans for a "technology-driven, sustained and targeted mobilization approach" include reaching voters multiple times over the coming months combining the use of high tech tools like e-mail and Palm Pilots, with fundamental political organizing techniques such as door-to-door visits and small meetings. Particular emphasis will be put on targeting people of color, working women and young workers who are being "disproportionately hammered" by the economy.

"We can and we must, improve our lives by using our vote as our voice," said Governor Bill Richardson of New Mexico, a vice president of the new organization. "We are going to bring hundreds of thousands of new voters to the polls on Election Day. We will inform them on the issues, we will register them and we will get them to the polls to vote for pro working family candidates."

AFL-CIO president John J. Sweeney, joined McEntee, Richardson and other supporters of the organization at a press conference at the National Press Club. "Voices for Working Families has wide and deep support from the labor community," he said. "We share a deep concern over issues like healthcare, jobs, education and the economy."

In addition to McEntee and Richardson, the officers of the organization are: Arlene Holt Baker, President; Linda Chavez-Thompson, Treasurer (Executive Vice President, AFL-CIO); H. Carl McCall, Vice President (Managing Director, Health Point); Geraldine Ferraro, Vice President (Executive Vice President, The Global Consulting Group); and Suzy Ballantyne, Executive Director. Targeted battleground states include Arizona, Florida, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

"Working women have a myriad of concerns from public school funding for their children to retirement security and health care, that are being ignored right now," said Ms. Ferraro. "We are not only going to talk about working family issues and about social and economic justice issues during this Election cycle, but we are going to get people to the polls to make their voices on these issues heard."

Noting that in September 2003 unemployment among African-Americans was 11.2 percent, up from 8.2 percent in January 2001, and Latino unemployment was 7.5 percent and Asian-American unemployment was 6.2 percent, Ms. Chavez-Thompson said, "These kinds of conditions are intolerable and it is imperative that they be reversed by an angry, educated and relentless response from all voters."

"Twenty percent of African Americans have no health insurance, compared with 12 percent of whites," said Myrtle Evers-Williams, Chairman Emeritus of NAACP and a Voices for Working Families Board member. "And 9.7 million African Americans did not vote in the 2000 presidential election. Through education and mobilization we hope to help people recognize that by voting, they can make positive changes in their lives."

In addition to Ms. Evers-Williams, Voices for Working Families Board members include: Morton Bahr, President, Communications Workers of America; Gloria Caoile, Executive Director, Asian Pacific American Labor Alliance; John Connolly, President, American Federation of Television and Radio Artists; Douglas Dority, President, United Food and Commercial Workers International Union; Marcia L. Dyson, University of Pennsylvania Africana Studies; Patricia Friend, President, Association of Flight Attendants; Leo Gerard, President, United Steelworkers of America; Melissa Gilbert, President, Screen Actors Guild; Gloria Johnson, President, Coalition of Labor Union Women; George Kourpias, President, Alliance for Retired Americans; Bill Lann Lee, Former Attorney General for Civil Rights; William Lucy, President, Coalition of Black Trade Unionists; Bill Lynch, Bill Lynch Associates; Leon Lynch, International Vice President (Human Affairs), United Steelworkers of America; Ed McElroy, Secretary-Treasurer, American Federation of Teachers; Eliseo Medina, Vice President, Service Employees International Union; Milton Rosado, President, Labor Council for Latin American Advancement; Harold Schaitberger, General President, International Association of Firefighters; Osman Siddique, Former Ambassador to Fiji; Dr. Ronald Walters, Director, African-American Leadership Institute at the University of Maryland, College Park; and Nancy Wohlforth, Secretary-Treasurer, Office & Professional Employees International Union.

Voices for Working Families is a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization created to ensure that everyone in this country can participate fully in America's political life.

We work to register voters, particularly in communities of color and among working women, to share information about critical working family issues and to provide opportunities to raise a unified voice for social and economic justice before political leaders and candidates.

At Stake: Jobs, Health and Basic Rights

America's economy is failing working families. Since President George W. Bush took office, more than 3 million jobs have disappeared. One in five workers has been laid off in the past two years. Eleven million workers want jobs but cannot find them.

For communities of color especially, today's economy is a disaster. Twelve percent of African Americans, 8.2 percent of Latinos and 6.2 percent of Asian Americans were unemployed in July 2002, compared with 5.5 percent of white workers.

People of color struggle disproportionately with America's health care crisis, too, as employers shift health coverage cost burdens to workers and the Bush administration fails to help. Twenty percent of African Americans, 19 percent of Asian and Pacific Islander Americans and a shocking 35 percent of Latinos have no health insurance, compared with 12 percent of whites. The day-by-day concerns of working women—equal pay, underfunded public schools, control over work hours and disappearing health and retirement coverage—are ignored by our nation's leadership. Retirement security is fading for all but the wealthiest in this country, particularly endangering the futures of African Americans, Latinos and women.

With the economic foundations beneath us cracking, basic rights are eroding as well. The Bush administration, which came into power through the disenfranchisement of millions of voters, has attacked affirmative action, civil liberties, job safety, our right to overtime pay, immigrant rights and workers' freedom to improve life through unions.

It's Time for a Change

Working together, we have the power to transform America as the 2004 elections approach. But 9.7 million African Americans, 7.2 million Latinos and 2.7 million Asian American citizens did not vote in the 2000 presidential election. Their voices were silent.

Voices for Working Families will be on the streets, in communities and on the airwaves with a unique approach to registering, educating and mobilizing voters. We apply high-tech tools, from e-mail to Palm Pilots, to the fundamentals of political organizing—going door-to-door and meeting with people one-to-one to discuss what's at stake in 2004 and how each of us can make a difference. In the 2004 election cycle, we will register, educate, mobilize and turn out people of color and working women to make their voices heard by voting. Because it will take repeated contact over a long period of time to increase voter participation, our strategy is to reach households in targeted communities with 10 contacts of various types—mail, in-person visits, phone calls and more—before Election Day.

Join us.

Seeking the Latino Vote

A prominent Democrat and Republican reflect on what their parties can and will offer Latinos in the upcoming vote.

Democrats can't take Hispanic voters for granted anymore.

By Bill Richardson

Much has been made about the fact that Hispanics are now the largest minority group in the United States. There will be an estimated 41 million Hispanics living in the U.S. by the end of the decade.

As governor of New Mexico—the only Hispanic governor in the United States—there are more sobering statistics that are of more immediate concern for me. For example:

More than 18 million Hispanics nationwide are not covered by health insurance.

- Nearly 28 percent of Hispanic students are dropping out of school.
- There are 1.5 million unemployed Hispanics in the U.S.—more than there have been at any point prior to 1989.
- And the gap between homeownership rates between Hispanic and white homeowners increased by 7 percent during the past three years.

These mainstream issues—access to health care, education reform, economic growth and homeownership—are at least as important to Hispanics as to non-Hispanics. I should know. In New Mexico, where 43 percent of the population is Hispanic, we cut taxes to make our state more competitive. And we enacted a comprehensive school-reform package that puts more money into classrooms and provides more accountability over our education system.

To be sure, Hispanics from California to Florida continue to deal with traditional issues, such as immigration, education and civil rights. In New Mexico, we were one of the first states to pass a law giving undocumented immigrants the right to apply for a driver's license using alternative identification, such as the Matrícula Consular. We were one of the first states to stand up and say that someone's immigration status should not limit their ability to participate legally in their communities.

The growth in our Hispanic population means that in the upcoming elections, millions of votes are at stake. I'm confident that Democrats will continue to get 65 to 70 percent of our vote. But we'll have to work hard for those votes. We can't take the Hispanic vote for granted and we must recognize that Republicans are aggressively pursuing and courting Hispanics.

It's going to take a political platform that recognizes that Hispanic children need good schools, our parents need to retire in dignity, that our families must have quality health care, and that we all need good jobs at good wages. Of the 16 so-called battleground states that are up for grabs in this presidential election, four of them have large Hispanic populations and can make a difference in who wins the White House. Those four battleground states—Arizona, Florida, New Mexico, and Nevada—have 47 electoral votes out of 270 needed to be president.

This year I formed a political action committee, Moving America Forward—Sí Se Puede—to help increase Hispanic participation in the American political process and to empower our community. Working with other progressive organizations, we will train and place seasoned organizers into these four battleground states who will educate and mobilize Hispanic voters. We will conduct on-the-ground operations to turn out the Hispanic vote and win these four crucial states for our Democratic presidential nominee.

I believe Democratic candidates are already paying attention to the needs of Hispanics. New Mexico hosted the first presidential debate in September. The Democratic National Committee also hosted its Hispanic Leadership Summit in Albuquerque, attracting more than 100 leaders and activists from 20 states to discuss the state of Hispanic America.

New Mexico is holding a presidential caucus on Feb. 3. That caucus, combined with a primary election the same day in Arizona, will make the Southwest a player in the presidential selection process.

All of these efforts are aimed at raising the profile of Hispanics in the U.S. To all mis hermanos hispanos que me hacen sentir tanto orgullo, let me just say that with our growth comes responsibility, and now is time to demonstrate the power of our numbers.

MoveOn.org Voter Fund Calls for Justice Dept. Investigation of Administration's Illegal Use of Government Funds For Bush "Re-Election Ads"

GROUP TAKES ACTION IN RESPONSE TO CBS RE-AIRING BUSH
MEDICARE AD WHILE REJECTING MOVF MEDICARE AD

CBS Re-Airs Controversial Bush Ad After Stating on February 14th: "The ad has been pulled. It violated our longstanding policy on advocacy advertising."

The MoveOn.org Voter Fund today called on Attorney General John Ashcroft to investigate the Bush Administration's use of federal funds to pay for TV advertising around the new Medicare law, calling them "political re-election ads."

The request came after CBS rejected an ad which MoveOn.org Voter fund proposed to place on CBS – paid for with its members' donated private funds – that counters the Bush Administration ad on Medicare which is now running on CBS. The MOVF ad has appeared on CNN and other networks and on network-affiliated stations around the country.

The ad CBS is airing was created by the same team of consultants who are handling the Bush/Cheney 2004 campaign ads, with $9 million in federal funds made available by the Department of Health and Human Services. Federal law explicitly forbids the commingling of federal funds and programs with political campaigns.

CBS has taken the position that it will not accept so-called "issue." When MOVF complained and mobilized others to protest the airing of the Bush Medicare Ad, CBS agreed with the criticism and pulled it. But when Republican officials complained, CBS buckled and put the air back on the air.

"That decision was inexplicable, given that CBS executives had admitted that the Bush ad violated their policy," said Eli Pariser, campaign director for MOVF.

Meanwhile, House Democratic Leader Nancy Pelosi, released a statement today critical of CBS.

"If CBS is going to air the Administration ad promoting the new Medicare bill—an ad that the conservative National Taxpayers' Union has called 'an election year ploy rather than a genuine public service announcement'—it should air the MoveOn ad as well. CBS has a responsibility to give the American people both sides of the debate and let their viewers decide for themselves.

"Once they learn the facts, I'm confident that Americans will realize the Republican Medicare bill is a bonanza for HMOs and drug companies, and a cruel hoax on our nation's seniors," concluded Pelosi.

A copy of the MOVF letter to the Justice Department is attached. The MoveOn.org Voter Fund is a Section 527 political committee that runs campaigns to inform the public about the policies and programs of the George W. Bush presidency.

The MoveOn family of organizations consists of three entities. MoveOn.org, a 501(c)(4) organization, primarily focuses on education and advocacy on important national issues. MoveOn.org PAC, a federal PAC, primarily helps members elect candidates who reflect our values. And MoveOn.org Voter Fund, a 527 organization, primarily runs ads exposing President Bush's failed policies in key "battleground" states.

27044180271

VOTER FUND STRATEGY: EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Objective. Our objective is to challenge George Bush's policies and record in order to reduce support for his re-election in 2004. We will concentrate our resources in several states critical to his re-election. In those states, we will reduce his support among swing voters through an empirically driven advertising campaign.

Strategy. Bush's support is eroding on many fronts, foreign and domestic. Yet his potential presidential opponents must spend most of their resources on competing with each other rather than further undermining public support for Bush. As this will continue until mid- to late-March, we believe a strong independent effort that is launched immediately can fill the void and soften Bush's support before he and his eventual opponent begin their head-to-head battle in the spring of 2004. Absent such work, Bush's use of the presidential bully pulpit will put all of us at a disadvantage in the period leading up to March 2004.

Tactics. We will create powerful television advertising to implement this strategy. We will produce convincing anti-Bush TV spots and get them on the air in targeted states. We will buy enough airtime to effectively deliver our message to swing voters in those states. We will sustain our advertising presence continually throughout the pre-primary and primary periods. Our advertising will significantly enhance door-to-door canvassing, labor union membership education, voter registration, and other projects taking place on the ground in the states we target. We will constantly refine our themes and the content and tone of our TV spots to reflect the findings of a vigorous testing program.

Message. Our initial TV advertising will be grouped around three simple themes, which recent polling and focus group research have indicated will get the best response. First, Bush's actions can't be trusted. He tells us he will leave no child behind, but he cuts funding for education. He launches a "healthy forests" initiative that is actually a smokescreen for more logging. Second, Bush's actions reflect a lack of concern for working families. He reduces benefits to pay for tax breaks for the rich. He favors drug companies over seniors who need cheaper medications. Third, Bush's actions and record show lack of competence to solve the nation's problems. He's mismanaged the war in Iraq. He failed to plan adequately for the post-war period. Deficits are out of control. Now, he's got no solution to the jobs problem.

Research and testing. We will continually test and re-evaluate this three-pronged message strategy by conducting polls and focus groups and by staying in touch with allies working on the ground in each of our targeted states. We will refine our understanding of the swing voter population in each state to see which segments are more persuadable than others. We will be sensitive to varying conditions in each state, which may require that different TV spots be run in different locations. We will test the impact of our advertising with before and after polling to be certain we are having the effect we desire. We will test different amounts of advertising to be certain we are buying enough to affect the vote but not more than is necessary. We will constantly troll for new messages that might more effectively achieve our objective, and we will monitor our tone to be sure it resonates with the voters we are after.

Integration with other efforts. We will work collaboratively with other projects pursuing similar strategies. While ours will be the only campaign using large-scale TV advertising during the pre-primary and primary periods, several other well-funded field efforts are underway in some or all of the states we are targeting. We will coordinate with these efforts to ensure that our advertising will enhance public interest in these field campaigns, increase motivation to participate in them, and get them more attention from the local press.

Success. We understand that an autumn 2003/winter 2004 campaign is very early for affecting the vote in November 2004. However, we believe that the outcome of the next presidential election will be largely decided in a few states and determined by relatively small margins. We should never allow there to be a gap in the drumbeat of opposition the public hears about Bush's performance as President, especially in the battleground states, and especially now that his support has dropped to pre-9/11 levels.

The MoveOn family of organizations consists of three entities. MoveOn.org, a 501(c)(4) organization, primarily focuses on education and advocacy on important national issues. MoveOn.org.PAC, a federal PAC, primarily helps members elect candidates who reflect our values. And MoveOn.org Voter Fund, a 527 organization, primarily runs ads exposing President Bush's failed policies in key "battleground" states.

We Will Beat Bush - Archives

The "Mother" of All House Parties

The East Bay for Kerry/MoveOn House party on December 7th combined the forces of two grass-roots organizations based in San Francisco East Bay Area. We had 200 guests eating, drinking, and watching the MoveOn Documentary "Uncovered" featuring Joseph Wilson and Rand Beers from the Kerry campaign.

When Teresa Heinz-Kerry arrived, she handed me a pin that read in the center: "Asses of Evil" with "Bush", "Cheney", "Rumsfeld" and "Ashcroft" surrounding it. She met, greeted and talked to a jam-packed room of Kerry supporters and others who came for the MoveOn documentary. Many were curious, others undecided, or belonging to other candidate camps.

Teresa talked about her life as the daughter of a physician in Africa, about life during a repressive regime, to life inside Washington DC, and a brief intimate glimpse into her courtship with John. She told a rapt crowd about how they met and their first date, and that he did not call again for six months, adding, "He was slow on the uptake". Just as she was about to add more to the story, the phone rang. It was the Senator.

The synchronicity of this call was not lost on the crowd. We all laughed. John then spoke about the Medicare Bill recently signed by the president that effectively forces people into expensive HMO plans and prevents Medicare from using its formidable consumer base to drive the bulk purchase of expensive prescription drugs down. He also spoke about the recent Bush Thanksgiving visit to our military in Iraq, carrying a platter laden down with a fake turkey, smiling for a photo op.

People were hungry for the food we had prepared, but more so, hungry for John's message of hope. After the call, Teresa took questions from the crowd. One of the questions was about grass-roots organizing, and the effect it had on the current presidential campaigns. Teresa responded that grass-roots has to happen at EVERY level, from the Internet, to canvassing and meeting people, to letter writing and phone calling. She reminded us that this was the way to connect with others and to get the message out.

A PBS producer working on a documentary on MoveOn interviewed Teresa. He asked, "Just as radio was for Roosevelt, and television was for Kennedy, the Internet has been defined as the new political grass-roots organizing tool for this era. What is your reaction to that?"

Teresa said, "The Internet is a great grass-roots organizing and political tool; but it is still an adjunct." The producer asked her to clarify. Teresa responded, "Until EVERYONE has access to a computer and knows how to access the Internet, it will still be an adjunct political grassroots organizing tool".

It was hard for Teresa to stay on schedule. The lovely voice of opera singer, Susan Gundunas was on hand to sing a few tunes, and that kept Teresa with us a while longer than expected. Before saying goodbye, she took with her some "Condoleezza Rice Crispiess Bars" and "No Child Left Behind Chocolate Chip Cookies", sold to generate donations to the cause. She left with a lilt to her step, a warm smile, and some new converts, some of whom were uncommitted and undecided, and some who were definitely committed, but came over to our camp. Because of her.

She gave us a bit of what she does best, connecting us as a community with her heart, compassion, and willingness to fight throughout all her life for the good of all of us. As her husband, John Kerry has throughout his life. Teresa completed the picture many people had unfinished about John Kerry. Now they know they have a "Real Deal". From baking cookies, gathering food donations, staying up late cooking chicken wings, putting up artwork, and decorating that beautiful rambling modern home in the Oakland Hills, we at East Bay for Kerry did our job because we believe grass roots efforts include all of these finer, human details. We brought in more than 80 people to John's birthday party the next night, bringing the room to capacity at 350 the following night

Thanks to Teresa, we kept the party going on, and she helped us here at East Bay for Kerry, throw the Mother of All House Parties.

As the Democratic Party closes in on selecting its nominee, the 2004 Presidential election will enter a critical new phase. The primaries have given the Democratic contenders a lot of media attention, but they have been expensive, draining the finances of all the candidates.

Meanwhile, Bush/Cheney '04 has raised over $131 million dollars to spend entirely on defeating the Democratic nominee. The moment the race for the Democratic nomination ends, the Republican money machine and the Bush/Cheney campaign will launch one of the most extensive media counter-offensives in history.

One element of their counterattack is already underway. The Bush administration is on a campaign to cover up its anti-environment record by announcing small environment-related projects and select enforcement actions in key battleground states. These efforts are designed to deceive local voters and to draw their attention away from the Administration's attempts to dismantle environmental and public health protections nationwide.

Environment2004 is setting the record straight. We are revealing the Bush administration's dangerous environmental agenda and countering its attempts to mask its true policies. To do this we need your financial support.

We are beginning our campaign in New Hampshire, using the same successful model we employed in our Florida launch. We will hold a series of events in New Hampshire, including the release of a report detailing the statewide impacts of the Bush administration's environmental policies. New Hampshire is a critical state. In 2000, Democrat Al Gore lost the state by a mere 7,211 votes. With your help, we can reach important swing voters and make the difference in 2004.

Please help us make the difference in New Hampshire and our other key states this time around! Visit our website now. With your help we can win back our country and create a safer environment for our children.

Sincerely,
Aimée Christensen
Executive Director

Dear Commissioners:

We are aware that the Commission may soon address questions that have been raised about get-out-the-vote, voter registration, and other activities conducted by political organizations, other than parties, and tax-exempt advocacy groups.

In the course of the public discussion of these issues, however, claims have been made about the support provided by the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act ("BCRA") legislation for these initiatives. One Commissioner, in a recent letter to Roll Call, stated:

At the very least, serious questions exist whether outside groups are circumventing the McCain-Feingold law, and these must be addressed. In the weeks ahead, it will be critical that the sponsors of the McCain-Feingold law indicate whether they believe outside tax-exempt groups can legally spend unlimited soft money on election-related activities in the place of the national political parties under the new law.

We are writing to say for the record that, whatever decisions the Commission chooses to make, BCRA reflects in very clear and specific terms the choices that Congress made in reforming our federal campaign finance laws. Our principal concern was the soft money solicited, received, directed and spent by parties and federal elected officials – money that presents the clearest danger of conflict of interest, in fact or appearance. With the exception of "electioneering communications," the law did not aim similar restrictions at political organizations or tax-exempt groups that are neither controlled by, nor coordinated with, parties or candidates.

If the Commission chooses to impose new restrictions on the programs and activities of these groups, it should not proceed on the basis of some perceived mandate on this issue from the Congress in BCRA.

Very truly yours,

Tom Daschle

Dear Commissioners:

We are aware that the Commission may soon address questions regarding get-out-the-vote, voter registration, and other activities conducted by political organizations (other than political parties) and public-advocacy groups. We note from the public discussion that various claims have been made that the McCain-Feingold legislation (BCRA) is the basis for these initiatives. One Commissioner, in a recent letter to Roll Call, stated:

"At the very least, serious questions exist whether outside groups are circumventing the McCain-Feingold law, and these questions must be addressed. In the weeks ahead, it will be critical that the sponsors of the McCain-Feingold law indicate whether they believe outside tax-exempt groups can legally spend unlimited soft money on election-related activities in the place of the national political parties under the new law." (Roll Call, January 27, 2004 at page 4.)

We are writing to say for the record that, when we voted for BCRA, we voted to get federal elected officials and political parties out of the business of raising and spending soft money – monies that presented the clearest danger of creating the fact or appearance of corruption in our government. The law did not aim similar restrictions at other political organizations or public-advocacy groups, so long as they are neither controlled by, nor coordinate their activities with political parties, candidates, office holders or their agents. In fact, it was our hope that BCRA would reinvigorate grassroots organizations to participate in the political process.

Whatever direction the Commission takes, BCRA reflects, in very clear and specific terms, the choices enacted by Congress to reform our federal campaign finance laws. While we do not express an opinion about actions the Commission may or may not take, we expect the Commission, as an independent agency, to exercise its authority consistent with the law and the Constitutional rights of the citizenry to fully participate in the political process by way of political organizations. And while the Commission may choose to impose new restrictions on the programs and activities of these groups, such restrictions should be applied fairly and consistently, and the agency should not proceed on the basis of some misperceived mandates from the Congress, which some have read into the McCain-Feingold legislation.

"American Dream" 3-10-2004

Narrator:

President Bush, remember the American dream? It's about hope, not fear. It's about more jobs at home, not tax breaks for shipping jobs over seas. It's about giving our children their chance, not our debt. It's about providing healthcare for people, not just profits. It's about fighting for the middle class, not special interests. George Bush's priorities are eroding the American dream. It's time to take our country back from corporate greed and make America work for every American.

27044180318

Media Fund: "China-Jobs" 3-17-04

Narrator:

During the past three years, it is true George W. Bush has created more jobs. Unfortunately, they were created in places like China. Bush's policies encouraged the loss of nearly 3 million jobs. He supported tax breaks to corporations that ship jobs overseas. His economic report suggests this is a positive transformation. George W. Bush is taking our country in the wrong direction. It's time to make America work for every American.

Script of "Santa" (TV)

ANNOUNCER [v/o]: Christmas is coming early to George Bush's big contributors.

(On screen: Santa's gloved hands hold a long hand-written Christmas list. He puts checks after: "High drug prices," "no-bid contracts," "cut overtime pay" and "TV network giveaway.")

Drug companies got higher prices in the Medicare bill. Defense contractors got no-bid contracts in Iraq. Now George Bush is pushing a huge spending bill that will eliminate overtime pay for millions of workers and give media corporations even more control of the airwaves.

(On screen: Camera pans down to Santa's cowboy boots.)

Yes, big contributors, there is a Santa Claus. But he's not at the North Pole.

(On screen: Photo of George Bush. The words "mis" and "leader" come over his image. At the bottom of the screen, "Paid for by MoveOn.org Voter Fund.")

He's in the White House.

27044180320

Script of "Hoover 2M" (TV)

ANNOUNCER [v/o]: George Bush is doing something Bill Clinton didn't do, his father didn't do, not Reagan, or Carter, or Ford or Nixon. Not LBJ or JFK. Not Eisenhower or Harry Truman. Not in any of FDR's four terms. No.

George Bush is going to be the first president since Herbert Hoover to lead an economy that loses jobs. Over two million so far. Didn't George Bush say his tax cuts would create jobs?

(On screen: picture of Bush and the word "LEADER"; letters "MIS" move into frame to form "MISLEADER"; Paid for by MoveOn.org Voter Fund)

27044180321

Script of "Medicare" (TV)

(On screen: Series of still photos from Bush's previous State of the Union addresses; Republican delegation on their feet and cheering; President Bush's voice is being imitated)

ANNOUNCER [v/o]: In his State of the Union speech, here's what George Bush should say about his new Medicare bill:

GEORGE BUSH IMITATOR [v/o]: My fellow Americans. My Medicare bill has real drug benefits -- but not for you -- for my contributors at the big drug companies.

My bill actually forbids Medicare from negotiating lower drug prices. So you'll probably have to pay more for your prescriptions than you do now. And you won't be able to get cheaper prescriptions from Canada.

(On screen: Photo of Bush; "Mis" and "Leader" come together over his image; Paid for by MoveOn.org)

ANNOUNCER [v/o]: The Bush Medicare sellout. It's enough to make you sick.

27044180322

Script of "Misleader" (TV)

ANNOUNCER [v/o]: George Bush told us Iraq was a nuclear threat.

(On screen: "[Saddam Hussein] is seeking nuclear weapons... He is moving ever closer to developing a nuclear weapon." October 7, 2002)

He said they were trying to purchase uranium.

(On screen: "Saddam Hussein recently sought significant quantities of uranium from Africa." January 28, 2003)

That they were rebuilding their nuclear facilities.

(On screen: "Iraq is rebuilding facilities at sites that have been part of its nuclear program." October 7, 2002)

So we went to war.

Now there's evidence we were misled. And almost every day, Americans are dying in Iraq.

(On screen: Word "MISLEADER" over image of Bush's face)

We need the truth, not a cover-up. Log on to MisLeader.org today.

(Paid for by MoveOn.org and Win Without War)

27044180323

Script of "Censure" (TV)

ANNOUNCER [v/o]: If George Bush had told the truth a year ago, here's what he might have said:

(On screen: President Bush's voice is being imitated)

BUSH IMITATOR: My fellow Americans, we have no evidence that Iraq has stockpiles of weapons of mass destruction. No connection to 9-11. No nuclear capability. They pose no imminent threat to America.

ANNOUNCER [v/o]: If he said that, would we have gone to war, spending $125 billion and losing more than 500 American lives?

When a president misleads us, he must face the consequences. Congress should censure President Bush now.

(On screen: Paid for by MoveOn.org)

27044180324

Script of "Truth" (TV)

(On screen: Polygraph test)

ANNOUNCER [v/o]: Ladies and gentlemen, President George W. Bush:

PRESIDENT BUSH [delivering Jan. 28, 2003, State of the Union Address]: ... Saddam Hussein had an advanced nuclear weapons development program....

Saddam Hussein recently sought significant quantities of uranium from Africa....

Saddam Hussein aids and protects terrorists, including members of al-Qaida....

(On screen: Americans are dying for the truth; Paid For By The MoveOn.org Voter Fund)

27044180325

"Bush Rx Plan" 1-6-04:

Narrator:

Seniors, who thought the Bush prescription drug bill would really help them, are in for a big surprise; because instead of standing up for seniors, George Bush sided with the drug companies, who've given him huge contributions. So the bill forbids Medicare from negotiating lower prescription drug prices. Forbids it! And prevents getting lower-priced prescriptions from Canada. George Bush, he's pulling the rug out from under Medicare.

27044180328

"Work" 1-20-04:

Silent Scenes:

Young boy washing dishes; young girl cleaning carpets at a hotel; young girl manning a conveyor belt at a bottling factory; little boy as a garbage collector; little girl as an auto mechanic.

Words on Screen:

Guess who's going to pay off President Bush's $1 trillion deficit?

Silent Scene:

Young girl acts as a grocery store clerk.

Words on Screen:

Moveon.org disclaimer

27044180327

"Overtime" 3-3-04:

Narrator:

Times are tough, so you work overtime to make ends meet. Then you find out George Bush wants to eliminate overtime pay for eight million workers. Too many jobs lost, jobs going overseas. And now, no overtime pay. When it comes to choosing between corporate values and family values, face it, George Bush is not on our side.
